562 die in history's worst air disaster

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP) — The Spanish air ministry said today the death toll from the fiery collision here of Pan American and KLM jumbo jets had climbed to 562 in history's worst aviation disaster.

There were conflicting reports on the cause of Sunday's collision. One report quoted airport sources as saying a misunderstanding by the American Pan Am pilot may have been a factor. But Spanish officials told a news conference the "key point of the investigation" was whether the KLM jet had permission to take off.

Officials said 72 persons survived the collision of the two Boeing 747s on the fogshrouded runway. All the survivors were aboard the American plane, and 11 were listed in very serious or grave condition. All 239 on the Dutch plane were killed.

"The whole (American) plane was on fire and people were crying and screaming trying to get out," said James Naik, 37, of Cupertino, Calif. "Within just a few seconds the metal started to come apart.'

The Spanish news agency Cifra quoted airport sources as saying the flight recorder from the American plane showed the airport control tower had ordered Pan American pilot, Capt. Victor Grubbs of Centerport, N.Y., to move onto the main runway. The sources said the U.S. plane apparently misunderstood the order and taxied onto another runway where the KLM plane was taking off, Cifra said.

But Manuel de Prado, president of the Spanish national airline Iberia, said the KLM plane had been ordered to taxi to the end of the main runway, turn 180 degrees and prepare for takeoff. The Pan Am plane was told to follow down the runway and turn off onto a taxiway

De Prado said he did not know whether the KLM plane had permission to take off. "This is the key point of the investigation," said Tenerife Gov. Antonio Oyarzabal.

Asked about a possible language problem, a spokesman for the control tower said the controllers talk to air crews exclusively in

In New York, a Pan American spokesman said the airline expected "anything sub-stantive" concerning the cause of the collision to come from a U.S. government investigating team sent to the crash site "and anything else we view with concern."

Cifra quoted Grubbs, who was hospitalized at the Santa Cruz General Hospital, as saying he was taxiing down the main runway at the time of the collision.

"The crew saw nothing right up to the moment of impact," he was quoted as

Another survivor, Roland Brusco Jr., of Longview, Wash., said the passengers were told the KLM jet was to hold its departure while the Pan American plane taxied across the runway to await its turn for takeoff.

"According to our pilot, the other plane was to hold at the other end of the runway,' Brusco told the Portland Oregonian newspaper by telephone. "We pulled out and followed them. Just as we got to the offramp, where we would get out of the way, well, communications must have gotten

He said the Pan American plane was taxiing when "all of a sudden were were turning and someone was screaming that KLM was taking off. ... Everyone was screaming.

John Hackette of Nashville, Tenn., said his fiancee, stewardess Joan Jackson, told him the Pan Am pilot saw the other jet "and tried to get out of his way but it was too

Those who survived the holocoust of fire and explosions were thrown from the plane on impact or managed to scramble to safety before the flames filled the passenger compartment.

One survivor, John Charles Amadour, 35, of Marina Del Ray, Calif., telephoned his father that "he looked out on the runway and saw the (KLM) plane coming right at him,"

"He ducked down to put his head between his knees and he heard the grinding and the crash. He looked up and said the plane was split in three pieces.

"He felt as if he was in an oven. He said he was afraid he was going to be roasted.... He was clamoring to get to this opening. Others were too. They were fighting and pushing. Finally he jumped about 12 feet, right into the rim of the fire and smoke. he landed on Investigators were en route to Tenerife from the United States, the Spanish mainland and the Netherlands to try to determine the cause of the collision. The U.S. Embassy in Madrid sent an eight-man delegation including a doctor, and three U.S. Air Force C130 transports were ordered from bases in the Canaries and West Germany to move the dead and injured.

However, the airport at Santa Cruz was closed by stormy weather and all flights were landing at Las Palmas, on Grand Canary island. Those who could not wait were taking a 50-mile ferry ride to get to Both planes were on charter flights, loaded with vacationers. Pan American said its flight carried 396 persons, including 364 passengers who boarded in Los Angeles, 14 who boarded in New York, a crew of 16 and four Pan American employes. The airline said seven crew members survived. Royal Cruise Lines, which chartered the Pan American plane, said the charter group was on a 12-day Mediterranean tour. The Dutch plane, which carried 239 passengers and crew, had been chartered by Holland International.

Both planes were bound for Las Palmas, on Grand Canary island, but were diverted here because of a bomb explosion at a flower shop at the Las Palmas aiport. The leader of a Canary Islands separatist group, Antonio Cubillo, claimed responsibility for the blast, which injured eight persons

The Tenerife runway is 11,155 feet long, 984 feet longer than the one at Las Palmas. The accident occurred at about 4:40 p.m. in fog witnesses said cut visibility to 60 feet.

Both planes were headed for Grand Canary. The last fatal air accident at Santa Cruz occurred in December 1972, when 155 persons died in the crash of a Spanish char-

History's worst previous air tragedy was the crash of a Turkish DC10, also a widebodied jet, near Paris in March 1974, which killed 346 persons.

In London, insurance officials said the crash might cost insurance companies more than four times as much in claims as any previous air disaster.

They estimated insurance claims by the two airlines could total at least $240 million.

High water near Sikeston

Flood waters covered roads throughout Southeast Missouri as shown here north of Sikeston at the juntion of Tanner Road and Highway 61. This area received over four inches of rain Sunday and this morning, causing minor flooding.

In other parts of the state roads washed out cars and other vehicles were swept off of the road and major flooding caused damage to stores and homes.

3 Morley area residents killed in traffic accident near Illmo

Three Morley area residents were killed and four other persons were injured, three critically, in two separate accidents over the weekend, the highway patrol reported

The fatalities brought the death toll on area roads to 14 for the year, compared to 24 during the same period last year.

The fatal accident occurred at 9 p.m. Saturday on Route N, one mile south of Illmo in Scott County.

Killed was the driver, Kenneth Leslie Harris, 18, of Benton Route One, near Morley, and two passengers in the northbound car, Stanley M. Gunter, 26, and Kenneth Boyd Barber, 24, of Morley Critically injured were Michael Thomas Hawkins, 17, Pam Joy Ingram, 17, and Cindy Raye Jacox, 16, of Morley. The three were taken to St.Francis Medical Center at Cape Girardeau.

The patrol said the Harris car was traveling at a high rate of speed when the vehicle ran off the roadway, struck a culvert and turned upside down.

Harris was born Aug. 8, 1958 at Cape Girardeau, son of Thelma Milam Harris of Doniphan and Bobby G. Harris of Sikeston.

He was employed by the city of Illmo. In addition to his mother and father,

Well-tended marijuana patch destroyed Sunday

NEW MADRID- A small, cultivated plot of marijuana, described as very clean and well camouflaged, was destroyed Sunday afternoon, following a report to the New Madrid County Sheriff's Department from a citizen who had spotted the patch.

Deputy Sam Hinton said the marijuana was found north of Lilbourn, gorwing about 10-15 feet off Compress Road. The plot appeared to have been well tended and from the present growth stage, Hinton estimated it probably would have had a potential profit of between $300-$400. The citizen was commended by Hinton for contacting the sheriff's department and said that this type of cooperation and assistance is needed from the public to combat illicit drugs in the county

Anyone who suspects that marijuana is being cultivated or who may have in-formation or knowledge of illegal drugs is urged to contact the sheriff's department.

Immediate response will be given to any reports. Officers may be called any time, day or night, either through the sheriff's office, the county jail or at their homes,

CONSUMERS' DEBT Economists used to point with alarm to the fact that America was becoming a "debt society." But you don't hear so many claims these days that the buy-now- paylater symdrome is a dangerous and self-indulgent flaw in the national character.

Indeed, Uncle Sam could take some lessons in sound debt management from his nieces and nephews. In the past 15 years, the federal debt has increased nearly twice as much as outstanding consumer credit. Statistics compiled by one major bank credit card provide additional evidence that Americans exercise far more debt restraint and financial responsibility thantheir elected

Figures recently released by BankAmericard, now changing its name to Vista, show that more than a third of its 34 million cardholders in the United States settle their accounts in full each month. Delinquent accounts (defined as those over 30 days past due) declined last year to a new low of 3.13 per cent of total dollars outstanding, and losses from people who didn't pay up continued a three-year downward trend to three-quarters of a cent for each sales dollar.

After all, banks got into the credit card business in the first place on the assumption that the public would make responsible use of a more convenient form of consumer credit. "Otherwise," points out a BankAmericard spokesman, "we would have been promptly wiped out."

FORBIDDEN CANCER 'CURE'

Smuggling across the Mexican border of the allegedly cancer-fighting drug Laetrile, which has been banned in this country by the Food and Drug Administration, has zoomed into the biggest problem U.S. Customs officials have to cope with after narcotics.

According to an assistant U.S. attorney in San Diego, officials are seizing the equivalent of 40,000 three- gram vials of Laetrile monthly - some from operators out to make a fast buck ("This stuff has a higher markup then heroin," says an FDA spokesman), but a lot of it from otherwise lawabiding but cancer- stricken Americans, driven by desperation to try anything that offers even the remotest hope of curing the disease.

Any time the law makes criminals out of ordinary people, we have to ask ourselves if something is wrong

Laetrile advocates are, in fact, seeking to overturn the prohibition against the drug. Bills to legalize it are before the legislatures in Indiana, Nevada, North and South Dakota, California, Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida. Currently, Alaska is the only state that permits the use of Laetrile.

In a class- action suit brought against the FDA in Oklahoma city, a U.S District Court judge in January ordered the FDA to come up with proof within 120 days that Laetrile should fall under the provisions of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Just what is Laetrile? Known chemically as amygadalin, it occurs naturally in the pits of peaches, apricots, bitter almonds and in other plant material. It was first suggested as a cancer cure as far back as 1920. From the beginning says the FDA, Laetrile has been tested and found wanting. It is actually the most tested cancer "cure" in history.

For example, on five separate occasions between 1957 and 1975, the National Cancer Institute tested Laetrile in animals and found no evidence that it could cure cancer or inhibit malignant growths. Four independent cancer research centers undertook additional studies in 1975 and came up with the same verdict.

Scientifically then, the evidence is overwhelmingly on the side of the FDA, whose responsibility it is to protect Americans from worthless and possibly harmful drugs. Morally, humanly or emotionally, the question is not so easy to decide. "Whether Laetrile works or not is beside the point," argues Frank Solomon, vice president of the Committee For Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy. "It's up to the individual to make his own choice, not the government to tell him how to conduct his doctor- patient relationship.

But the question is not ath simple, either. The FDA cites cases where people whose cancers were detected at an early and operabel stage decided to try Laetrile, and in so doing put off effective therapy until it was too late. Thus far from being harmless, if useless, Laetrile was in these instances downright lethal.

Yet at the same time, by outlawing Laetrile the FDA has only given the drug that much more publicity, made it that much more sought after, made it that much more expensive. It has created a black market that did not exist before and, perhaps most undesirably of all, has fanned suspicions that there is some kind of anti-Laetrile conspiracy in the medical establishment.

And what of those cancer victims for whom no treatment has worked and who have been given only a few months to live? Has the government any right to forbid them to try Laetrile, even if it knows it is worthless?

The wisest course may be for the Food and Drug Administration and cancer authorities to continue to warn energetically against the will- of-the- wisp of Laetrile, especially in the early stages of cancer, but otherwise to ignore it.

When the forbidden fruit is no longer forbidden, Laetrile will eventually pass into the medical limbo alongside Krebiozen and other once-touted cancer "cures."

"SITUS" THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

"When I use a word," Humpty Dumpty said, in rather a scornful tone, "it means just what I choose it to mean-neither more nor less."

"The question is," said Alice, 'can words mean all those different things.

-Lewis Carroll's Through The Looking Glass

Had Alice attended recent Congressional hearings on the controversial "common situs" picketing bill, her question would have been answered. Words can mean whatever you want them to mean when you're a spokesman for Big Labor trying to shove one of your special interest measures

A casual reading of the sleight of tongue testimony offered by union officials would have provided Alice with several

Washington

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department president, Robert A. Goergine, told legislators the bill embodies the "fundamental principle of equal justice under

And that sounds very noble. Until you read the bill and find out that what is being passed off as "equal justice" is really a nasty new privilege that would give hardhat union officials the power to blockade any construction job where non-union craftsmen are employed.

Peter G. Nash, a lawyer and former General Counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, does an effective job of unmasking the intent and the effects of the Big Labor proposal (HR 3500) in Common Situs Picketing—"Here We Go Again," a paper published in February.

'The overall effect, intent and purpose of HR 3500 has nothing to do with equal treatment for construction unions-it has everything to do with granting total control of the construction industry and its employees to the Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL-Cio," Nash argues.

"Indeed, a more accurate title for HR 3500 would be a Bill 'To secretly deprive construction workers of free choice and to secretly transfer this nation's argest industry to the AFL-CIO', "he maintains.

"The initial analysis of HR 3500 should quite clearly establish that its advertised

'equal treatment' is but a smokescreen for legislation which seeks massive changes in our nation's basic labor law. says Nash

HR 3500 gives construction unions the power to require employer assistance in mandating that all construction employees be union-represented whether those employees wish to be or not.

And the bill would undermine the protection of a Right to Work law for construction workers in the 20 states which have enacted such statutes against forced unionism.

"The union's problems...in 'Right to Work' states are specifically remedied by HR 3500 which allows a construction union to strike an entire construction project if employees on that site are not union dues payers and to expand that construction strike area-wide by merely coupling that issue with non-working condition demand," Nash explains.

So, with the help of Mr. Nash, we see that the so-called "equal treatment" bill actually provides special treatment and privileges for union officials, no one else!

And, unlike Alice, there can be no confusion about what will happen if the common situs measure is passed. Hardhats who belong to a union will have work, union officials will have refuse to join or are not permitted to join labor unions will have problems.

You cannot hide from summer heat-it is always in hot pursuit-but you can minimize it. In areas where a cool day is still in the low hundreds, man learned long ago that loose-fitting, lightcolored clothing is a must for survival. The English who colonized India gave us another helpful hint—they learned that small quantities of citrus juices not only quench thirst but reduce excessive liquid intake. To keep from overheating, doctors recommend a lower calorie consumption during the summer.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Ecologists See Red: Environmentalists importing new Austrian strategy to half big construction projects

WASHINGTON- Jack Mundey may be tomorrow's newest environmentalist cause celebre. He's a 42-year-old Communist labor leader directing the brand new Workers Institute for Environmental Development in Sydney, Australia. Recently the U.S. State Department denied him a visa for a speaking tour which would have taken him from Berkeley, Cal., to the Capitol here. On the left that's always cause for a cause. Mundey's claim to fame is in laying down the Red flag temporarily for the "Green Ban." So successfully did he and his comrades and colleagues in the Australian construction unions implenent the Green Ban, that they now boast of stopping 42 construction projects on the down-under continent. The investment would have been $4 billion. An Australian industrial specialist tells me the work ward of 10,000 jobs. Jack Mundey's union is the Builders Laborers' Federation. Its 40,000 members can halt major projects through strikes, picketing and other action. Some time ago it developed the Green Ban environmental strategy. Meaning that unions simply didn't work on construction they considered ecologically damaging.

Thus Mundey and his fellow leftists, many of whom are avowed militant Communists with rare good words for the U.S., have unilateral control of new construction projects, the flow of investments and industrial and power developments in Australia. They have a distinct distaste for power stations - especially nuclear energy installations. All this strategy and philosophy of greenery is what he has wanted to sell in the United States. But back to Mundey's saga.

Last November the State Department did give him a 10day visa. However, he entered the United States as an environmentalist and not as the former chief of the Builders Laborers' Federation. Since leaving active leadership of this powerful Australian union he has devoted his dialectical talents to an organization linking labor and environmentalists. So November, he came to the U.S. and addressed the World Wildlife International Congress in San Francisco.

Then he flew home. So much did he enthuse his American hosts that they, along with the Washington-based Environmentalists for Full Employment and the Friends of the Earth, disregarding Mundey's Marxist mouthings back home in Australia, began arranging an American speaking tour for

So Mundey applied for a U.S. travel visa in February. This time he was scheduled to address a labor-management institute of the University of California - among others. He did want to talk to some American labor leaders.

This would have been a laborto-labor tour in part. And this is out of bounds for Communists. That is the law. That is the long tradition of the State Depart-So Mundey's visa application was rejected. He was permitted to land in San Francisco, however, for transit to Canada. That's all he had of American soil this time -- two hours. He did speak in Canada. He waited for the State Department to change its mind. And then on March 15, he flew back down under. The story of Mundey's suffering" was leaked. It has become an environmentalist's animated conversation piece. And in the smokeless backrooms of some ecological associations, there is talk of a public campaign for Mundey's readmission to the U.S. He is, after all, a very rare building and construction union type. Few anywhere in the free world are the darlings of the environmentalist green world. In the U.S. the building and construction trades unions are desperate for jobs - what with some 60 per cent of their members unemployed in the Northeast and a national unemployment average of 15.2 per cent, if non-union workers are included. In the unionized field, construction labor chief Bob Georgine currently estimates the job seekers to run to 27.1 per cent. The environmentalists, whose tribes in Green Ban policy -outdoor sports supplies, leisure industries, etc. -- than in heavy construction in general, and in nuclear energy plants, in particular. There's an almost bow-andarrow approach by the environmentalists to anything nuclear. Especially on the waterfront. They work closely with their New Zealand comrades.

Thus, when the U.S. nuclearpowered cruiser Long Beach hove into the Auckland, New Zealand, harbor last Oct. 1, the port froze. It wasn't the Antarctic weather. It was the frigidity of the waterfront workers - Jack Mundey's colleagues and international allies.

The longshoremen struck. The tugboat crews refused to handle anything afloat in the harbor. They paralyzed the piers as well as the waters. The dockwallopers refused to handle any cargo to any ship in port until the Long Beach left. Teamsters wouldn't even deliver supplies to the American cruiser. Some 23 freighters in from the high seas were idled.

This was the nature of the New Zealand workers' protest against the U.S. Navy's friendly visit. Then the Long Beach headed for Australia, Jack Mundey's home. The craft found no warmth there. Why, then, is the State Department's rejection of Mundey's visa for travel in the U.S. more a "cause" than rallying to our own right, by naval proxy, to visit Australian and New Zealand waters? Or are personal "rights" violated only if they are those of aggrieved Communists or leftists or environmentalists? All rights reserved

Teachers bluff to be called

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Striking Kansas City teachers and the school district celebrated the eighth day of the walkout with a showdown over whether the teachers would obey a district order

District Supt. Robert R. Wheeler Sunday repeated a previous order from the Kansas City School District for all teachers to report to work at 8 a. m. today or be considered in breach of contract

But leaders of the Kansas City Federation of Teachers predicted that 70 per cent of the striking employes would honor the picket lines.

"I suspect the bluff is going to be called," said Norman B.

Hudson, president of the union.

The teachers could be fired if they refuse to obey the district order, since such strikes are considered illegal in Missouri. But Wheeler said the district had not yet decided its course of action against those not reporting for work.

A union attorney, Doyle R. Pryor, told those attending a teachers' rally Sunday that before a tenured teacher could be fired, written notice to teachers, a hearing before school board members and a majority vote of board members were required. Police officers were to be present at all schools today, although both sides said they wanted no violence.

Kansas pathologist to crash

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Three Wichita pathologists flew to the Canary Islands today to assist in the investigation of the weekend crash of two Boeing 747s that killed more than 500 persons. Heading the team was Dr. William J. Reals, an authority on air accidents and the author of a book, "Aerospace Pathology. The National Transportation Safety Board asked Reals to direct a probe of human factors involved in the accident, as well as the age and the identities of the dead.

Reals is the vice-president of medical affairs at St. Joseph Medical Center in Wichita.

Accompanying him were Dr. Ward N. Madison, a pathologist at St. Joseph Medical Center, and Dr. William G. Eckert, a pathologist at St. Francis Hospital, also in Wichita.

Herman injured in wreck

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) - The show went on Sunday night, even though band leader Woody Herman couldn't be a part of it. While Herman recuperated at a Manhattan Hospital from a broken right leg received in an auto accident earlier in the day, his Thundering Herd made a concert appearance—as scheduled-at Kansas State University.

The 63-year-old Herman was on his way to the concert Sunday afternoon when his car collided headon with another vehicle on Kansas 18 inside the Ft. Riley Military Reservation.

The band leader, who also suffered facial lacerations and other injuries, was taken to Erwin Army Hospital, then transferred to St. Mary Hospital in Manhattan, where he was placed in intensive care.

The driver of the other car, Barbara Racek, 57, Junction City, was treated for cuts and bruises at the military hospital.

The band, which had played Saturday night in Great Bend, was already in Manhattan when the accident occurred. The band is scheduled to give a concert Wednesday night at Raytown South High School in suburban Kansas City, although a spokesman said Herman could be in the hospital as long as a Herman, who plays clarinet and alto saxophone and sings, is observing his 40th year as a band leader.

Arson expected in explosion

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Arson is suspected in an explosion that ripped apart two bars early Sunday morning, according to investigators.

The blast, heard for several miles around, leveled Pat O'Brien's and Judge Roy Bean's, two adjoining bars in the city's River Quay entertainment area. Three persons suffered minor injuries in the explosion, which occurred about 2:10 a.m., some 40 minutes after the taverns had closed. "We suspect arson. It's under investigation," said Bennie Imperiale, deputy fire chief. "We don't know what it was, to be honest with you. Whatever it was, it was very destructive, I'll say FBI agent and investigators from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms joined the investigation, although authorities refused to speculate on a reason for the blast. The River Quay, just north of the city's downtown area, has been previously linked to a local organized crime struggle that has resulted in several gangland slayings in recent months.

No winners in dam hearing

SULLIVAN, Mo. (AP) - There were no clear winners in the Meramec Dam hearing here Saturday, but both sides said they believed they made points during the eight-hour session.

The hearing before the Corps of Engineers drew nearly 2,000 proponents and opponents of the $100 million project to the Sullivan City Hall to attempt to have their viewpoints heard. It followed by about 24 hours President Carter's announcement that he was impounding $2.7 million that was to have been spent on the dam project between March 10 and April 15.

Col. Leon E. McKinney of the St. Louis district office of the Corps said the purpose of the hearing was to include comments on new screening criteria by the federal government. But he said opponents of the dam seemed to recap most of the old issues. "I didn't hear any new comments, really," he said.

New Delhi hears pledge

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - Prime Minister Morarji Desai's government pledged today that it would move quickly to complete the restoration of Indian democracy. In an address written by Desai and his advisers and opening the new Parliament, Acting President B.D. Jatti said: "The most urgent task is to remove the remaining curbs on the fundamental freedoms and civil rights of the people, to restore the rule of law and the right of free expression to the press." The speech hit hard at former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, who was ousted by Desai and his allies in the general election a week ago.

Oscar time tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) - It's time for Oscar again, when nominees for the film industry's highest award wait to see which among them will be called to the stage to be handed slim gold statuettes. The late Peter Finch could take best actor honors for his role in "Network," the first such posthumous award in the Academy's 49 years.

Russian tanks come to US

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sometime within the next year Americans may be startled to see Russian tanks rolling across U.S. countryside. The tanks will be accompanied by soldiers wearing Russian-style uniforms, carrying Soviet AK47 assault rifles and riding in Russian armored personnel carriers. No matter what it looks like, it won't really be a Russian invasion. It will be part of a training exercise involving the U.S., not the Soviet, Army.

Baby killer letter revealed

TRENTON, N.J. The letter was never delivered or otherwise made public. It was hidden for 40 years in the personal papers of Col. Mark Kimberling, warden at Trenton State Prison in the mid-1930s.

2 girls found delinquent for acid attack

LINWOOD, Kan. (AP) - A juvenile court judge has found two 13-year-old girls delinquent in connection with a Valentine's Day acid-throwing attack that scarred a pretty classmate at Linwood Elementary School.

Two other girls, also 13, were not found delinquent at the hearing held Wednesday by Judge John White of the Leavenworth County Juvenile Court. Names of the girls were withheld under state law.

Judge White said Thursday it was his understanding that a finding of delinquency brings automatic expulsion from school. There was no confirmation by school officials, who declined to discuss the

The girls involved have been classmates since kindergarten.

ST. LOUIS— A pilot Com-munity Arts Council Development Program to help finance administrative staff positions for community arts councils has been approved, in principle, by the Missouri Arts Council. In order to determine the extent of community need for the proposed program, the Council is seeking written councils throughout the state. Letters must be received by April 15, 1977, and should be sent to the Missouri Arts Council, Suite 410, 111 South Bemiston Avenue, St. Louis, MO 63105. Additional information, of any immediate nature, may be obtained by calling 314 721-1672.

happy and voted YES.

Dear Ann Landers

Ann gets replys on survey, would you marry the same one

Dear Readers: Several months ago I conducted a survey through the column that produced infinitely more anger than when I foolishly said, "A woman who doesn't iron her towels and bedsheets is lazy. The question that created all the chaos was this: "If you had it to do over again, would you have had children?" Over 30,000 responses were tabulated. Seventy per cent said, "NO."

That survey was interpreted as an attack on motherhood -which is right up there with applie pie and the United States Marines. People were so incensed they complained to the media. Several newspapers and radio stations took their own surveys. The results were quite different. I wasn't surprised.

When a parent gets a call from a newspaper or a radio station and is asked to respond to a question of that nature - even though they are told, "We don't need to know your name" or, "This is strictly confidential" -they fear that their identity may be revealed.

An unsigned letter to Ann Landers guarantees anonymity. People can say whatever they please and no one will ever know they said it. (It can be therapeutic, too.)

And now, by popular demand, I have completed another survey. The question: If you had it to do over again, would you marry the person to whom you are now married? Within ten days my office was bombarded with 50,000 pieces of mail. The mail is still coming in. I predict it will continue for another two weeks - at least.

Although I requested postcards only," well over 7,000 had to write letters to tell me in detail how "wonderful" or how "lousy" - it is.

My instructions were as follows: Tell me (on a postcard, no letters please) if you had it to do over again would you have married the same person? Write Yes or No. State whether you are male or female and the number of years you have been

Are you ready? Well, there are two sets of responses, and there was a big difference. Thirty per cent signed their cards and letters (many gave their addresses). Seventy per cent did not sign. Here are the results of the signed mail: Seventy per cent said YES -- 30 per cent said NO. Of the signed cards and letters, 80 per cent came from females and 20 per cent came from males. The unsigned mail told me more than I wanted to know. Forty-eight per cent said YES and 52 per cent said NO. The breakdown according to sex was 70 per cent from females and 30 per cent from males.

We received 42 postcards from homosexuals who considered themselves "just as married as

"You've got to cut off the head for the body to die," says the Marquette coach.

Translated, that means Marquette will have to decapitate Phil Ford. "Ford's dynamite," said

"No one will ever know the full value of North Carolina's 'four-corner offense' until Ford leaves. We'll have to short-stop Ford. We'll have to be very patient.'

Patience, of course, is the virtue that got Marquette into tonight's big contest at the Omni, which starts at 8:15 p.m. EST. The seventh-ranked Warriors play painstaking basketball, calculating each move on the court with computer-like efficiency.

This tedious, deliberate style paid off in Saturday's semifinals, when the Warriors nipped North Carolina-Charlotte 51-49 on Jerome Whitehead's last-second shot.

Smith, whose fifth-ranked team held Nevada-Las Vegas to its second lowest point total of the season in Saturday's 84-83 victory, is cognizant of the Marquette tempo.

"I'm very concerned about forcing tempo," he said Sunday at a news conference. "I'd much rather slow a team down than speed it up. You can't force someone to play. There's no 30-second clock in basket-

There is, however, the fast break - and Smith acknowledges, "We like to do that a

McGuire will be looking for that, as well as North Carolina's storied "four-corner offense." And it IS an offense, despite some opinion to the con-

'People have misconceptions about the four corners," said Smith. "They think it's a stall. But actually, it isn't. It's designed to get easy layups, draw fouls and tire out the other team's defense, as well as run out the clock.'

"It really opens up a lot of scoring opportunities," added guard John Kuester. "We've been very effective with it especially with Phil Ford, the best guard in America."

The spread formation, with a player in each corner of the court and Ford orchestrating in the center, has provided a lot of anguish for the Tar Heels' opponents this year. Nevada-Las Vegas was hurt by it Saturday when North Carolina got a lot of back-door baskets by freshman Mike O'Koren, who wound up with 31 points.

Ford, considered by many to be the best guard ever to play for the Tar Heels, has been directing the formation in recent games despite an injured right elbow. He sustained a hyperextended elbow in the East Regionals against Notre Dame and reinjured it during a practice last week.

"The elbow feels great," Ford said Sunday. "I thought that after Saturday's game I'd wake up today with some pain. But it seems to be okay.

While trying to hold Ford in check, the Warriors also will be attempting to direct the game's pace with their paralyzing ballcontrol offense.

While the Warriors put you to sleep with their offense, they can put you away for good with their tremendous firepower up

"They're probably the best rebounding team in the nation this year," said Smith, "maybe the best in any year.'

As well as acknowledging Marquette's obvious physical capabilities, Smith also stressed a possible emotional edge that the Warriors may have.

"I know they'll be up for McGuire's last game," he said. Along with the usual drama a national championship, McGuire's retirement has added more electricity to the proceedings. The veteran coach announced earlier this year that he was leaving basketball to go into private business.

Deaths St. Francis Medical Center plans expansion

> CAPE GIRARDEAU -- St. Francis Medical Center plans the construction of a new $1 million special services addititon to house a computerized axial tomographic scanner, a cardio-diagnostic laboratory, a cardio-pulmonary department, expanded radiology department and two more operating rooms, LaRoy R. Roper, president of the board,

The new addition will be attached to the main building and to the north wing on the east side in the area now occupied by the covered walkway. Internally, this location will be adjacent to the existing radiology and surgical suites.

has announced.

Financing for the $1 million construction project will be through debenture bonds available locally and throughout the state. Issuance of the bonds will be announced soon by the Heitner Corporation of St. Louis.

John J. Keusenkothen, administrator, said, "the medical field is moving so rapidly in establishing new diagnostic and treatment modalties that the board and administration must constantly reassess our high level health care. Long range planning and a desire to meet this community's needs are commitments of this institution. This new expansion reflects that commitment.

The CAT Scanner is an ultrasophisticated radiological diagnostic tool that has the capability of producing readouts of areas of the body heretofore unseen. It is non-invasive and provides a much safer way to trauma, detect neurological problems and lesions that ever before.

Both local hospitals made application for the $500,000 piece of equipment in 1976. To reduce duplication of services they agreed to abide by the wisdom of a consulting firm that would study all factors and recommend the location of only one such unit in Cape Girardeau.

The cardio-diagnostic laboratory will provide Cape Girardeau area citizens with the latest in cardiac diagnostic capabilities. It will include a special procedures room for angiographic procedures. These cinegraphic records are filmed on 35mm Provisions of these types of diagnostic recordings will prevent duplication of tests should a patient be required to have further treatment at Memphis or St. Louis. The unit will contain other new equipment for the treatment and diagnosis of heart disease.

The St. Francis Cardio-Pulmonary Department was established when the new facility was opened and has increased its capabilities substantially, thereby requiring additional space. respiratory therapy, EEG and EKG units are part of this cardio-pulmonary department and will now be strategically located for easier outpatient access on the northeast side of the building.

The surgical suite will be expanded by two more operating rooms. These will be completed but not opened for use until the need arises. Utilization of the 15,000 square foot addition is planned for in three stages. Construction is expected to begin in late spring Thanksgiving.

A party of high school youths had a very narrow escape from death on Wednesday afternoon, when a rear tire slipped from the rim on the car they were driving and after racing awkwardly for 100 feet or more plunged against a tree by the roadside, hurling its occupants against the tree also or to the ground. Those in the party were: Harold Lindley, Willett Lockhart, Charles Blanton, and Misses Vivian Ferrell, Irene Robinson, and Gertrude Richards. Charles struck the tree with such force that the buttons on his sweater were imbedded in its wood.

A prominent firm of psychologists ask this question when screening and examining employee applications for their "Of all the men you know, have known, met or heard of, what one man would you most like to be like?'

Reports indicate this question brings in a lot of different answers and peculiar reasons. Selections include Grandpa, Dad, Uncle John, Cousin Tim, and so on in an apparent effort to tie in a helpful family trait ... or affiliation. Other applicants select men such as Churchill, Lincoln and other historical greats. Some select sports, business or political

Obviously of course, the psychologists are interested in the 'reasons why' - not so much in the selection itself. The reasons for the selections also vary greatly. Accomplishments, achievements, materialistic success, untarnished reputation, character and other attributes are mentioned as

It is an interesting question. How would you answer it? Who would you select? Why? Watch for out selection next week. You may - or may not - be surprised!
